Conservation Necessary to Survival of Planet

by Christicia Cantley

America the beautiful is losing its luster. Our spacious skies are choked with smog. Amber waves of grain sprout from chemical concoction. And from sea to shining sea, human debris is killing. We must realize that recycling is crucial to the preservation of our Earth, and that it is not just the "in" thing to do anymore. In the 1990 volume "Recycle, South Carolina" which is published through our governor's office, we are told that only 11 percent of U.S. solid waste is recycled. Obviously there is great room for improvement and it is no longer a "they" or "them" issue. Have you ever heard someone say, or maybe you have said it yourself, "Hey, I'm only one person and I can't make a difference."? If one person accepts his or her responsibility for this then so will others and individual people will have created a universal relationship working towards a better tomorrow. It will be a better tomorrow when each and every individual has the guts to separate their own trash. This is the beginning of the process called recycling.

Recycling starts with the individual. Recycling is conserving and reusing. Recycling is saving money and making money. All that you need is a little knowledge, common sense and maybe a little creativity. For example, write on both sides of a sheet of paper; use a sponge or cloth for cleaning instead of a paper towel; use washable utensils instead of paper and plastic; and buy recyclable products. We can also save aluminum, glass, plastic, newspaper, paper, copper, metal, and tires to name a few.

Eric Gardner, a senior at Coastal, is concerned about our environment and is doing something about it. In January, Gardner called several friends to his home and days later the Earth Environmental Society was born. Gardner has made tremendous progress in educating our community and implementing recycling plans across the state. Gardner's goal for 1990 is to convert his campus community here at Coastal into care takers of our environment. Based on tentative plans, Gardner has been working with deans and faculty for an EES Coastal Chapter. The faculty advisor will be senior, Dr. Elizabeth Puskar. There are several office openings, including president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. There will be no dues or fees. Gardner's plans include installing drop-off bins for aluminum, glass, and plastics which will be placed around campus in order to cater to the needs of students, faculty, and staff. Gardner also plans to work paper recycling on campus into the Horry County School Board Recycling Project.

Gardner had much to do with the local success of Earth Day 1990 which was held April 22, the official date of Earth Day, at Myrtle Beach State Park. The festival drew a crowd of 15,000 and he is expecting a larger crowd at next year's Earth Day. This year's festival will be held on the weekend nearest April 22, 1991. All details will be announced in a later issue. In the next issue there will be printed a larger list of locales around Horry County for drop-offs, places to buy recycled products, tips for easier recycling in your home, and more information about EES Coastal Chapter. More information is available through the Chanticleer office in the Student Center 202 or by contacting Eric Gardner.

Rice Named to Readers Circuit

Paul Rice, assistant professor of English at USC Coastal Carolina College, has recently been named to the South Carolina Arts Commission Readers Circuit roster. The appointment makes Rice available to interested organizations for readings and workshops.

Rice specializes in British and American poetry at Coastal, where he also teaches poetry workshops.

Rice earned his Ph.D. in English from the Catholic University of America, with a specialization in 20th century British and American poetry and poetic theory. He earned his M.F.A. in creative writing from the University of Arkansas, with a concentration in poetry. In 1986, Rice was a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellow at Princeton University. In 1990, he received a National Endowment for the Humanities stipend to assist in his edition of the works of 19th century Creek Indian poet Alexander Posey.

Rice has published poems, reviews, scholarly and feature articles in Poetry, Kansas Quarterly, Poet Lore, Bitterroot, Beloit Poetry Journal, The Georgia Review, Southern Humanities Review, National Forum, The Chronicle of Higher Education, The Mother Earth News, and numerous other publications.

A avid blues fan, Rice is a guitarist and songwriter for The Garage Band, a blues group comprised of business and professional people from Horry County.

For more information, contact Rice at Coastal from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on weekdays at 349-2421 or call the South Carolina Arts Commission at 734-8696.

Crackdown on Illegal Drinking

By Brian McGuire

Consumption of alcoholic beverages by persons under the age of 21 is the subject of a crackdown by the state and ABC officials.

The legislature passed a bill on June 24 that imposes harsh penalties for those convicted of drinking while under the age of 21. Convicted offenders will lose driving privileges for ninety days. The new law also states that anyone providing alcohol to underage drinkers will also suffer from the 90 day driver's license suspension.

The Sun News reported that over one hundred Clemson students were convicted within the first week of classes. Approximately 130 minors in Columbia were arrested while they walked to Williams-Brice Stadium to watch the USC football game. Most of the minors in Columbia, who ranged from ages 16 to 20, were charged with illegal possession of liquor, wine, and beer.

ABC Chief Enforcer Joe Dorton told The Gamecock, "We normally concentrate on areas around the campus — restaurants, bars, concerts." Dorton made this statement prior to the arrests made in Columbia.

Violations stipulated in the new law include: using false identification; distributing false identification; consuming alcohol if under 21; providing or purchasing alcohol for people under 21.

A provisional license may be obtained, but it is for employment purposes only. This means that school is not considered a provision. Commuting students in Columbia are already suffering because they do not qualify for the provisional license.

Campaign Against Campus Rape

Los Angeles, September 5, 1990 — As twelve million college students start back to classes this week, the Rape Treatment Center at Santa Monica Hospital Medical Center has asked college students and administrators to join them in the fight against the campus rape epidemic by supporting the first comprehensive national campaign against campus sexual assault.

At a press conference on September 4, "L.A. Law" television series stars Susan Dey and Corbin Bernsen joined Rape Treatment Center Director Gail Abarbanel to announce the national program which includes a new 20-minute film about campus sexual assault. The film, titled "Campus Rape," is hosted by Dey and Bernsen and has already been distributed by the center to more than half of the universities in the country. The center encourages college administrators to adopt the film as part of orientation programs for all incoming students. The film was recently endorsed by the National Interfraternity Conference, which distributed copies to its members.

"The goal of the campaign and the film is to reduce the epidemic number of campus sexual assaults," stated Abarbanel. "Recent studies indicate that each year one in every six college women is a victim of rape or attempted rape and one in every fifteen college men admit to committing sexual assault."

In addition to the film, which contains important information about rape and prevention strategies, campaign materials include powerful ads and posters for colleges to adopt, and proposals for state legislation requiring colleges to implement written procedures for handling sexual assault cases and mandatory rape prevention programs for freshmen.

"Students must understand that rape is not sex; it's an act of violence with devastating consequences," stated actress Dey, who thinks the film is a valuable resource in educating students by exploring campus rape and its impact through interviews with four college women actually assaulted on college campuses. "I hope our film will help reverse the alarming campus rape statistics."

Actor Bernsen cited his support for the campaign, commenting, "Men must take a strong stand against rape. The campaign gives college men an opportunity to become part of the solution, rather than part of the problem."

"College students are more vulnerable to rape than any other age group," said Abarbanel. "To compound the problem, studies have shown that more than 90 percent of campus rapes go unreported. Our campaign provides colleges with ef-

Beausoleil Plays Coastal

Louisiana's leading Cajun band, Beausoleil, will give an outdoor concert at USC Coastal Carolina College Sunday, October 7, at 3:00 p.m. in the baseball stadium.

Founded and led by lead vocalist/fiddler Michael Doucet, Beausoleil is known for its rousing live performances, its high level of musicianship, and its originality in incorporating the old (traditional Cajun, Creole, and medieval French) with the new (New Orleans jazz, island rhythms, and southern boogie).

Beausoleil recently received its second Grammy nomination for the sound track of the movie Belizaire the Cajun. Their music also was featured in The Big Easy and their performance video recently aired on Showtime cable network.

The band has been featured in Rolling Stone and has had guest spots on the Today Show, West 57th, and Austin City Limits.

Musician Magazine has called Doucet "Cajun's leading young innovator." Other members of the band are brother David Doucet (acoustic guitar), Jimmy Breaux (accordion), Tommy Comeaux (electric bass, mandolin), Billy Ware (percussion), and Tommy Alesi (drums).

Sponsored by the Cultural Arts Committee, the performance is part of the Wheelwright Passport series at Coastal Carolina College. Since this is an outdoor concert, there will be no reserved seats. Those who attend may wish to bring blankets for seating on the infield area of the stadium. Coolers will not be allowed inside the gates; however, there will be Cajun food and soft drinks concessions.

Tickets are $10 for general admission, $5 for students and free for Coastal Carolina students with student ID. Tickets are on sale at the Wheelwright box office and Sounds Familiar Records and Tapes in Myrtle Beach. For more information, phone the box office at 349-2502. Hours are 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, and noon to 5:00 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.

Golf Tournament a Success

By Chris Elswick

The Business Club would like to thank everyone who participated in this year's Big Brother/Big Sister Business Club Charity Golf Tournament at Myrtle West Golf Club. The event featured an exciting sudden-death playoff between four teams to decide the winning team.

At the completion of regulation play, captain's choice, four teams had tied with scores of 62 for the par-72 course. These four teams then went back on the course to decide the championship.

After several tense holes, the veteran team of Glen Butler, Fred Hutcheson, Sam Smart, and Doug Shaffer pulled out the victory. The second-place team, featuring Coastal Students Greg Donner, Bruce Killian, Mike Delveccio, and Jeff Newton, nearly pulled out the victory, but a missed putt cost them the title. The winning team collected $150 for their efforts, and second place took home $75.

The Business Club would like to thank the following persons and organizations for making the tournament possible:

Myrtle West Golf Club, John Riley, Golf, The Roma Restaurant, P.T.'s Showclub, H.C. Platt & Son, The Crazy Horse, Joe's Bar and Grill, Piggly Wiggly of Conway, The Sox Shoppe, Pizza Hut, Golf and Tennis World, Martin's Golf and Tennis, Tee to Green, Frank's, The Gray Man, Pepsi Cola of Conway, Golf U.S.A., and Coastal Federal Savings and Loan.

Army Offers College Aid

The U.S. army announces the continuation of its college Loan Repayment Program for the coming year.

Students who received a National Direct Student Loan, a Guaranteed Student Loan, or a federally insured student loan approved by the U.S. Department of Education may be eligible for the program.

Students who qualify and enlist in the Army can have their indebtedness reduced by one-third or $1500, whichever is greater, each year they serve.

"This is a dynamite program for college graduates who want to get an edge on life," said Lt. Col. Edward V. Cooper II, director of recruiting for South Carolina and eastern Georgia.

ern Georgia.

"After serving four years in the Army, a young man or woman who enlisted for this program will be back in the civilian job market free of college debt and with experience and credentials beyond academic preparation," Cooper said.

He added that the student's college education probably will qualify him or her to start Army service at a higher rank and pay grade, in addition to the loan repayment benefits.

People interested in the loan repayment option can obtain more information from their local Army recruiter, who is listed in the yellow pages under "recruiting."

Koestner and Haynes in Fulbright Program

USC Coastal Carolina College faculty members Richard Koestner Jr. and C. Beth Haynes are among approximately 1500 people in the nation chosen to travel abroad this academic year under the Fulbright Program.

Koestner is an associate professor of biology at Coastal. He will be teaching at Kenyatta University in Nairobi, Kenya for the 1990-91 academic year. Koestner earned his Ph.D. from St. Louis University in 1975. He has been a Coastal faculty member since 1979.

Haynes is an associate professor of economics at Coastal. She will be in the People's Republic of China teaching at the American Studies Center of Shanghai International Studies University this academic year. Haynes spent last year in Indonesia as a Fulbright lecturer in the University of Indonesia's master of management program. Haynes earned her Ph.D. from Purdue University in 1981.

She has been a Coastal faculty member since 1982.

Established in 1946 under Congressional legislation introduced by former Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, the Fulbright Program is designed to "increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries."

Under the Fulbright Program, approximately 5000 grants are awarded each year to top American students, teachers, and scholars to study, teach, and conduct research in 130 countries around the world. foreign nationals are also selected under the program to engage in similar activities in the United States.

Individuals are selected on the basis of academic and professional qualifications plus their ability and willingness to share ideas and experiences with people of diverse cultures.

A lot of campus rapes start here.

Whenever there's drinking or drugs, things can get out of hand. So it's no surprise that many campus rapes involve alcohol.

But you should know that under any circumstances, sex without the other person's consent is considered rape. A felony, punishable by prison. And drinking is no excuse.

That's why, when you party, it's good to know what your limits are. You see, a little sobering thought now can save you from a big problem later.

Crime on Campuses is a Problem

(CPS) - While the murders of five college students within three days in Gainesville, Fla., the last week of August were unusual, crime watchers say murder is a more common crime on campuses nationwide than most people think.

Hard statistics are hard to find, but crime observers say they've been surprised by the results of several recent studies of the problem.

"The rate of victimization is higher than anyone had known," says Jan Sherrill of the Campus Violence Prevention Center, based at Maryland's Towson State University.

Though people have not been studying the phenomenon for long, some statistics seem to "show an increase" in murders and other violent crime at colleges across the country, added Clarinda Raymond, Sherrill's colleague at Towson.

Moreover, Raymond said, the murderers are often other students.

"I guess we cannot rule out that the Florida murders were committed by a student," Raymond said.

On Sept. 1, police arrested Edward Lewis Humphrey, 18, a University of Florida (UF) freshman, for questioning in the case.

Police added they might have other suspects in the off-campus murders of three UF and two Santa Fe Community College students.

Police found the bodies of 17-year-old Christina Powell and her roommate, 18-year-old Sonja Larson, in their apartment Aug. 26. Both were UF freshmen. Both were partially nude, and had been stabbed.

Eight hours later police found the stabbed, decapitated body of Christa Leigh Hoyt, a Santa Fe student, at her apartment.

The next day, Aug. 28, Santa Fe student Tracey Inez Paules, 23, and her roommate, UF senior Manuel Ricardo Toboada, 23, were found stabbed to death.

The brutality and timing of the killings prompted widespread student panic on the UF campus. Many apparently left for home just as classes were starting. Some who stayed held large slumber parties for protection. Still others bought weapons.

They could find weapons readily advertised in the Independent Florida Alligator, the campus paper, which suddenly found itself with an influx of ads for mace, tear gas and stun guns, said an Alligator ad rep, who didn't want her name used.

Some campus leaders nevertheless said UF is a relatively safe place.

"I think security on campus is incredible," said Michael Browne, UF's student body president. "Campus crime has been down."

Multiple slayings are in fact rare at colleges. The most notable instance occurred in December, 1989, when a gunman killed 14 female students and wounded another 13 people at the University of Montreal.

Some 1,990 violent crimes were committed on campuses in 1988, the most recent FBI census of crime in America found. Whole the FBI report is notoriously misleading, the number probably did not represent all the violent crimes because colleges were not required to report them.

In January, 1990, Raymond's group released a survey showing that 36 percent of the nation's students had been victims of violent crimes.

Yet students typically don't think of their campuses as dangerous.

"They naturally want to believe it's a safe place," noted Jeanne Morrow, housing director at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana, where a student was murdered in her off-campus apartment in mid-August.

Another reason students may be shocked to hear of violent crimes on their campuses is that schools themselves mislead them, Morrow added.

"It is constantly reinforced (to students) what a friendly, warm environment the campus is," she said.

Students, moreover, may not know about campus crimes because their campus newspapers don't report them.

Campuses, worried about the school's image and protecting victims' privacy, often refuse to reveal campus crimes to reporters.

Editors at Southwest Missouri State, West Virginia, Oakland and Southern Arkansas universities have sued during the past year to force administrators to give them information about crime in their communities.

Lesaine Completes Training

September 6 (FHTNC)—Marine Pfc. Eddie Lesaine, son of Henry I. Lessaine of Whiteville, N.C., has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the 13-week training cycle, Lesaine was taught the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills including first aid, rifle marksmanship, and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

Eddie is a 1988 graduate of Manning High School, Manning, S.C., and a junior enrolled at USC-Coastal Carolina College. He is also a starting forward for the Chanticleer basketball team. He joined the Marine Corps Reserves in May of 1990.

Labor Fest '90 Ends Peacefully

(CPS)—A year after rioting marred the biggest annual gathering of black collegians in the country, sending racial reverberations across the country, this year's Laborfest '90 in Virginia Beach, Va., ended peacefully.

About 29,000 people visited the resort town during the holiday weekend. They were met by a police presence that some complained was excessive.

As was the practice last year, hotel occupants were required to wear color-coded bracelets to get into their hotels.

The city closed a 200-block section of the oceanfront to traffic. Visitors with hotel reservations could drive in, but others had to walk or take buses.

Hundreds of extra officers were on duty when the weekend started, but after the first two nights went smoothly, police scaled back operations.

"I don't think the security is fair at all," said Norfolk State University student Tony Jeffries. "People pay their money to stay in hotels so why can't they have guests if they want to?"

"I feel like we're prisoners of Virginia Beach and I know the city wouldn't make other groups of people abide by these regulations," complained David Anderson, a student at Millersville University in Pennsylvania.

In 1989, some 100,000 people were in town when the violence broke out.

Thousands of young blacks clashed along the resort's strip with white police officers in riot gear. The Virginia National Guard was finally called in to restore order.

In the clash's aftermath, students claimed that they had been targeted because they are black, and that local residents had cancelled many of the weekend's traditional activities. As a result, the record-sized crowds had little to do and were left to mill around in the streets.

The city spent the year analyzing what went wrong last year and planned a number of events, including a job fair, a parade, and concerts.

Some students, complaining too much was being done to control the event, called for an economic boycott of the resort, encouraging their peers to go to other festivals along the east coast.

"I haven't spent any money since I've been here in Virginia Beach," said Anthony Gresham, of Essex County College in New Jersey. "I brought food from home, and if I want some more I will buy it elsewhere."

Become a student of the world

Spend a year or semester abroad for about the same cost as staying at home. Over 100 sites in Africa, Asia, Australasia, Canada, Europe and Latin America offer undergraduate and graduate programs in fields such as architecture, communications, engineering, fine arts, the humanities, international business, law, languages, and natural and social sciences

Through the International Student Exchange Program you are directly enrolled in a foreign institution and receive academic credit toward your degree program at home. You are totally immersed in a new culture and language, not in an isolated study program for U.S. students taught by U.S. professor.

On The Job

The second annual Career Information Fair is planned for Wednesday, October 3, and twenty-one companies will have representatives on campus to talk to students and alumni about positions within their companies. The Career Placement Office plans and implements this fair to help students learn about the variety of jobs that are available in the marketplace. Government agencies, businesses and the non-profit sector are all parts of the marketplace and each broad area is divided into many subareas. Students who want to successfully earn good jobs at graduation and beyond must be deliberate in their effort to learn about the job market. So make a special effort to participate in the Career Information Fair this year. It is a good, informal way to "shop" the job market. No special dress code is required and resumes are not necessary. Just bring yourself and ask all the questions you want. See the ad in today's issue for more details.

A period of on-campus recruitment will begin at Coastal following the Career Information Fair. Employer participants at the fair will have the option to interview on campus from October 4 through November 2. Students who wish to interview must attend a placement orientation workshop. The workshop has been presented twelve times during September, but will be held twice on Monday, October 8 at 11:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. for any others who want to interview on campus. Contact the Career Placement Office for the location of the workshop at 347-3161, 448-1481, or 546-0234.

Departments of the college that are interested in hiring work study students should submit job description forms to Mollie Starbuck in the Placement Office. Federal college work study money is still available to qualified candidates. Students who are interested in receiving federal awards and who have a financial aid file should contact Pat Tyler in the Financial Aid Office for more information. Departments can obtain the job description forms from the Placement Office.

Summer 1991 Internships
The Dow Jones Newspaper Fund Editing Intern Program is offering fifty scholarship grants and assistance to college juniors, seniors, and graduate students in finding summer employment. The goal of the intern program is to encourage those interested in newspaper work to try newspaper editing for the first time. The program lasts the entire summer of 1991, from the end of school in the spring to the start of school in the fall. SPAR has guidelines and applications. Call Kathy Lowman 7-7093. The deadline is November 15.

Resources Conservation Internships are for college graduates with a special interest in environmental issues to work in Washington, D.C., in the Federation's Resource Conservation and International Affairs departments. One or two internships are available in the following areas: Fisheries/Wildlife; Environmental Quality; Public Lands/Energy; and Water Resources. Internships are offered in two 24-week sessions, beginning in early January and early July. A stipend totaling $5,800 is paid in biweekly increments. SPAR has requested additional information. Call Kathy Lowman 7-7093. The deadline is April 1.

Coastal Alumni Reminisces

Have you ever wondered what Coastal was like in the early years? Or how The Chanticleer got its name? I learned the answer to both of these questions recently while talking with a Coastal Alumni, Kenneth Ward, from Aynor.

Ward attended Coastal when it was just a two-year college, then transferred to USC Columbia where he finished his undergraduate studies in 1965 and attained his M.B.A. in 1971. Ward, the magistrate for the Aynor district since 1974 and a local CPA, is active in community and local affairs. He and his wife Sandy have four children and four grandchildren.

While at Coastal, Ward became our first SGA President, played basketball for the Chants, and put out the Coastal newspaper, which he named The Chanticleer after the rooster in Chaucer's Canterbury Tales.

I asked him what it was like here on campus then. In Magistrate Ward's view, Coastal was better then than now in many ways. As SGA President, he enjoyed a lot of administrative support and helped SGA to significantly influence campus policies. Although at that time Coastal was a two-year school with a maximum of sixty-five hours to be earned, its small size added to the quality of education. Many classes were small, with 16-22 students at the maximum. One important advantage, said Ward, was that a student had "almost unlimited access to professors," and students enjoyed a lot of one on one educational experiences. Many professors now do not care about the students as much as they did when the school was smaller. One of Ward's favorite professors was Joe LeSain, a history professor who took the time to encourage Ward in continuing his education.

I asked Mr. Ward, an active member of the Coastal Alumni Association, what changes he would like to see on campus. "It saddens me to observe the encroaching insensitivity of the college toward the students." It would be in the best interest of the Coastal community, Ward believes, to "mandate more bilateral communication between the student body and the administration." Other changes the magistrate would like to see on campus are: better student parking facilities, an injunction on student fee increases, and equality in the student funding formula between Coastal and other branches of USC.

Coastal is much larger now than it was when Ward attended. The increasing size has brought on many campus problems which need to be addressed. With community leaders and Coastal alumni like Mr. Ward, we might just have a fighting chance at solving some of these problems.

Collegiate Investment Challenge

Starting November 1, 1990, over 15,000 college students representing over 500 colleges and universities begin competing in the Third Annual AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge.

For the next four months each of the students will be set up with a fictional $500,000 brokerage account, complete with a toll-free AT&T 800 Service line to make trades with. They will buy real stocks at real-time prices.

The Challenge was designed as a fun and exciting way to provide students with a realistic, "hands-on" experience in the financial markets which are at the center of all business activity today. Students participating in The Challenge will learn about the different industries in corporate America, what companies are in the news and on the rise, and of the ever changing business and economic trends.

Each month students will receive portfolio statements and a newsletter with exclusive stories and rankings of the top students, colleges, states, and professors. Students will not get a letter grade, just a profit and loss statement that pounds home the lessons they have learned.

USA TODAY, a co-sponsor, provides weekly coverage and features the top student performers, colleges, high schools, and educators every Monday throughout the event, in the Money Section.

Over $200,000 in total prizes will be awarded. The ten students with the highest portfolio values on February 28, will win Bahamas vacations compliments of the Bahamas Ministry of Tourism and the Holiday Inn Lucaya, where winners will enjoy a week of fun in the sun. Ten cash scholarships will be awarded, with $25,000 going to the top collegiate performer. In addition, there are hundreds of monthly prizes from Champion USA.

Whether students end up in the Bahamas or bankrupt, every student is a winner because they learn lessons no text book can teach.

For more information contact Dr. Gerald Boyles in KH 215B, or Mitch Babb in the Accounting Lab in KH 211.

Editorial

Another two weeks gone by, and the Student Government persists on malaise. As my friend, in mind and soul, Dr. Hunter Thompson would say, "fear and loathing" where "the doomed are damned".

Thompson, who is now living in Colorado, was describing the Nixon era and campaign. In that era, things went from bad to worse fairly easily. What does this mean for Coastal? For the average student who is being completely ignored, it means that I will inform you. Those select few, usually referred to as elite, they should take heed.

It is a real shame that espionage is not involved in this matter. The aforementioned analogy would fit perfectly to the details. Instead, in a relative mode, the pertinent matters pertain to power and the usage of authority. Via elections—legitimate elections—you, the student body, issued authority to the student body officers. Everyone makes mistakes—that's O.K., right?

Mistakes and fallacies are common and, in this age, simply unavoidable. I thought that a particular person had beautiful green eyes. She wears contacts. I'm sorry, I was mistaken.

Deception and stealthiness, however, is unavoidable, but unfortunately it's becoming more common. Ronald Reagan illegally sold contraband to the contras. He wasn't mistaken. He tried to say that he was mistaken, but it didn't mesh. He was wrong, deceptive, and eventually the matter surfaced.

Tricky Dicky Nixon casually dropped off tape recorders arbitrarily incertain places. He wasn't mistaken. If he was mistaken, he could have said, "You know, senators, I went to go make some tapes and movies, but I just forgot where to put the damn things". He wasn't mistaken, he was just deceptive, wrong, and he admitted it.

In a subjective comparison, the student government, after making several constitutional infringements, should be evaluated for our sake. Mistaken or deceptive?

The procedure for class president elections was an utter disaster. The majority of students had no idea that elections were being held. Potential candidates did not have time to form a campaign.

The five-member elections committee should have been appointed and approved by the body well in advance in order to get arrangements. The committee still exists of one member, Lyda Greene, who was appointed only days before the event. Lyda worked very hard to get the thing done. But for what? To be nullified, because our president didn't fulfill her constitutional duties.

The elections were apparently not on the president's priority agenda. But for others the elections were of high priority—Lyda Greene, the candidates, and the poll workers, of which I was one. All of our work is now meaningless. The affair has been formally contested, and new elections must be scheduled.

Official dates and committee selections should have been resolved in the spring or early in the fall. President Gina claims that she misread the by-laws of the constitution. How can such a professional executive body make such an error? Mistaken or deceptive? The bulk of it was deception. The bulk of it was deception. The president told the sga senators to keep the matter under the hat, so to speak. The student government premier was prepared to lie to the students and administration by feigning legitimate elections. And feign she did.

The elections clusterfuk will eventually be reconstructed, and the sun will rise again tomorrow. But no matter how trivial it may seem, there is now an eerie tone lurking in the wings. The student government's attitude is apparently based on what they can get away with. Has the student government "gotten away" with anything else? As responsible students, we must remember that Gina and company spend our money. The administration and students need to tell the president that we are not easily deceived.

SGA News and Commentary

By Susanne Viscarra

Monday, September 17, 1990 TREASURER'S REPORT

Our budget is approximately $90,000. Debbie has not yet received a confirmed count of full-time students.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Gina is in the process of trying to locate all of the campus snack machines. One that used to be in a portable will be placed in the Student Center if it can be located, instead of moving one from Kearns Hall.

There were no more than ten students present at the open session that Dr. Art Smith held for students. For the future, Gina would like students to remember that if they want to accomplish anything, everyone needs to take part when opportunities like these are afforded us.

On October 1 there will be a parliamentary workshop directly following the SGA meeting. Gina has called this a special session, which means that it is mandatory. Any senators who are absent will jeopardize their SGA funding.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

The Allocations Commission has approved $690.50 for FCA's athletic dinner.

As our representative to the FIPSE Committee, Donna Mitchell reported that she did not receive important materials for the last meeting until five minutes into the meeting. She would like assurance from the committee that in the future she will receive all materials for consideration at least two or three school days beforehand. Their next meeting is September 19 at 9:00 a.m.

OLD BUSINESS

Bradley Todd will be acting as a student liaison between the Alcohol and Drug Awareness Committee, SGA, and the students.

Debbie Rahn has volunteered to be our student representative to the Wellness Committee.

Phi Eta Sigma's constitution was ratified by the body.

The Education Club's constitution failed to be ratified and must be redrafted and resubmitted to the body.

NEW BUSINESS

The following committee appointments were ratified by the body: Allocations Commission - Erich Hunn, Kim Rhue, and Julie Smith; International Committee - James McGowan and Mauricio Osorio; Intramural Athletics Committee - Lori Macaluso and Mike Ulman; and Building and Grounds Committee - Robert Booth and Bob Phillips. The body also ratified Dr. Betsy Puskar, Dean of the School of Natural and Applied Sciences, as their new adviser.

The body approved the establishment of a Constitution Revision Committee to revise and update the current SGA constitution. Volunteers are sought to participate.

Volunteers are also sought to serve on the Judiciary Committee.

Monday, September 24, 1990

TREASURER'S REPORT

Budgets are due today. Debbie will process them as they are received in complete form.

The following was spent by the executive officers over the summer and are awaiting approval by the body: $3,529.00 for SGA Rally Week and the Student Mixer, $166.00 for two hundred parliamentary procedure booklets, and $200.00 for the presidential candidate search (a possible refund is pending). For the executive officers' stipends, $500.00 went toward summer sessions for Debbie and Gina and $3,500.00 for all four fall stipends. (Debbie has since amended these figures: Rally Week - $522.74, Student Mixer - $3,100.00 (still awaiting beverage bill), parliamentary procedure booklets - $166.16, summer stipends - $450.00, and fall stipends - $3,840.00.)

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Doctors Betsy Puskar and Sally Horner were introduced to the body as our 1990-1991 advisers.

Gina does not want anyone to feel intimidated by parliamentary procedure. She feels that it is good practice for those who foresee a career in politics and leadership.

A fall break is still under consideration.

The Panel of Presidents' meeting will be held on October 5.

Beginning Monday, October 1, hours for the Computer Assisted Instruction Laboratory in the Academic Center will be extended into evening and weekend hours.

The snack machine that was in a portable has been located and will be moved to the Student Center.

Gina hopes that the class presidents' elections can be stabilized even though they are not being held in accordance with our constitution.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

David will be placing all committee materials on the SGA computer as soon as all appointments are ratified by the body.

The following committee appointments were ratified by the body: Academic Affairs Committee - Kathy Ann Thompson and Donna Mitchell; Calendar Committee -

Regina Bechtler-Simpson and Cyndee Lewis; Judiciary Committee - Patsy Alexander (one vacancy remains to be filled); Campus Services Committee - David Crumlich, Heather Trimmal, and Sheila Rodgers; Cultural Affairs Committee - Trish Grant, Debbie Rahn, and Brett Witt; Intercollegiate Athletics Committee - Hilary Banks and Buddy Cribb; Library Advisory Committee - Donna Mitchell; Long-Range Planning Committee - Trish Grant and Regina Bechtler-Simpson; Student Affairs Committee - Patsy Alexander (one vacancy remains); and South Carolina Student Legislature - Mark Sikes, Susanne Viscarra, Brendan Frost, Regina Bechtler-Simpson, Rachelle Drakeford, Ben Gleason, Alan Killmer, Robert Booth, Debbie Briggs (alternate), Dargan Baldwin (alternate), and Jeremiah Rutledge (alternate). Gina removed Ben from his position as chair of SCSL and Rachelle from co-chair in order to make the following appointments that were not approved by the body: Rachelle (chair) and Mark (co-chair), and Rachelle (chair) and Ben (co-chair). Susanne was nominated for appointment as chair but declined the position. These offices will be voted upon by the committee which will not be subject to SGA approval.

COMMENTARY

Meetings are proving to be more of a battle of will and authority between Gina and the body rather than diplomacy for the betterment of Coastal's students. Teary eyes, rash threats, and high volume is not what the majority of us expect will accomplish good for us all. Although Gina promised that parliamentary procedures should not intimidate us, it is being used to "railroad or be railroaded" (her words). One proclaiming to be upholding our constitution and acting on behalf of the students, Gina has managed to alienate a large percentage of the senators by blatantly disregarding our requests and by discarding our constitution and its by-laws whenever she feels is necessary. Only a few of us have studied our constitution, which Gina knows is an enablement for her to slide one by the body. One infraction would have been fairly accepted by the body, but, I feel, that it is necessary for the students to know how many violations of our constitution have occurred under our present administration. Either we can overlook this disrespectful activity or we can act constitutionally and uphold our rights. After reading the following statutes that have been violated, I would like everyone to consider what actions should be taken. We are empowered to either disregard these violations or act upon them.

from the Constitution of the Student Government Association

ARTICLE VII: Allocations Commission

Section C: Term Of Office - The members of the Allocations Commission shall hold their offices in good standing beginning the day after the Spring graduation exercise and ending at the time of the graduation exercise one year later.

Section E: Duties, Subsection 1 - ... Approval of all requests shall be contingent on full SGA approval.

ARTICLE VIII: Executive Officers
Section C: Duties and Responsibilities, Subsection 1, Item b - Uphold, administer and enforce the constitution and by-laws of the SGA.

from the By-Laws to the Constitution

Article I: Elections

Section A: Election Committee - The SGA Election Committee shall consist of five (5) members appointed by the SGA President after they are inaugurated and prior to the end of the spring semester... The committee appointees and the chairperson must be confirmed by a majority vote of the SGA members present when the appointments are presented. All appointments must be confirmed prior to the end of the spring semester...

Section B: Time of Election, Subsection 2 - The fall election is to be held within four (4) weeks after the first day of class for the fall semester. The exact date will be proposed each year by the Election Committee. The date proposed by the Election Committee must be approved by a majority vote of the SGA members present when the proposal is presented prior to the end of the spring semester.

Section C: Election Procedures, Subsection 1 - Any SGA Election shall be announced not less than ten (10) academic days prior to the first day of the election... Subsection 7 - ...A booth or similar facility shall be used to ensure secrecy in the voting procedure.

Because of the last few violations, the recent elections were automatically invalid since the day after spring exams. This is a clear example of how disregard for our constitution can directly affect all of us.

Joe Bob Goes to the Drive-In

by Joe Bob Briggs

You know what the 1980s contributed to modern civilization?

Only one thing.

The 900 phone number.

As a tool of mass insanity, treating people like brainless slabs of meat, it's the greatest invention since neckties. A couple of months ago Cable News Network had a 900-number poll where people were asked to vote on whether Donald Trump was a great American or not. So a friend of Trump's used an automatic speed dialer to vote more than 9000 times for Trump, and the results were something like 88% for The Donald, 12% against. Then CNN got all huffy about it, like the guy had done something wrong.

That's what it is, you Guardians of the Media! It is selling votes! He bought the goldurn votes! Why are you giving him a hard time when he enjoys the benefits of buying votes?

So, anyhow, I was thinking about this last week when I called up the 2 Live Crew 900 number, the Paula Abdul 900 number, the New Kids on the Block 900 number, and the "Soap Opera Digest" 900 number, because all of these have been directly connected to brain tumors in teenagers. A 14-year-old kid named Stephen Salerno of East Brunswick, New Jersey, spent $11,346 in one month on 900-number phone calls before the bill came in. When his mother found out, she decided to withhold his allowance until the year 3798.

But it is just one pitiful sleazy example of how 900 numbers prey on the young, the shut-in, the poor, the elderly, the people who should be using their money for something more important, like Cheetos.

It has gotten to be a national sickness. And that is why I have decided to do something about it. It is all well and good to talk about putting limitations on 900 number abuse. It is fine to wait on Congress to pass the laws we need. That is not good enough for me.

People need counseling, advice, and help today, not later.

Call 1-900-4-JOEBOB. I will be there for you. Call as many times as you need to. Stephen, if you are reading this, I am waiting. Any time. Day or night. That is how strongly I feel about it.

1-900-4-JOEBOB. Some-day you will thank me.

Speaking of demonic forces invading your space, "The Exorcist III" has been getting a bad rap. Go see the flick. It is not just a sequel. It is the sequel where William Peter Blatty has figured out a way to bring back Father Damien! The guy who got green vomit on his shoes and then fell down the steps and went to Catholic heaven is now living in the body of serial killer — or, wait a minute, maybe the serial killer is living in his body — either he is dead, but the serial killer is keeping his body alive, or else he is alive, and the serial killer is dead, but the devil is making him act like a serial killer, I am not sure, but the bottom line here is that Brad Dourif is a really mean psycho dude in a straitjacket and a rubber room, and he is possessing the bodies of mental zombies and telling them to scissor off the heads of priests, nurses, and young children.

The only man who can stop him is George C. Scott, a cop with a carp in his bathtub, who gets a little testy when he finds a 12 year old kid with ingots driven into his eyes and his head cut off and a Jesus head made up to look like a black minstrel stuck on his shoulders where his head used to be. George thinks, "This is not normal. This is not correct." Then when he goes to the hospital to see his old friend the priest, and finds out that — whoops! — somebody went into his room and sucked all his blood out of his body and put it in neat vials on a shelf, without spilling a drop, he decides, "This, too, is incorrect." and pretty soon you know what happens. he gets the dusty leather book down off the shelf of the theological library. He turns to the page with the red letters, to the sentence that begins "Save your servant . . ."

Get out the green pea soup.

In fact, get out the lasagna.

Exorcism City.

This one is a thousand times better than the weenie "Exorcist II:

the Heretic" they made in 1977.

No breasts. Six dead bodies. Blood-sucking. Vital-organ chopping. Devil snakes. Neck-ripping. Priest-zapping. Hell gapes open. One scene that had a totally unexpected scare, never before seen in films (and I have seen all the tricks). Gratuitous Tommy Dorsey big-band dream sequence. Confession Fu. Drive-In Academy Award nominations for Brad Dourif, as the Gemini Killer, even creepier than the psycho in "Dirty Harry," for saying "I kill at random — no motive — that's the fun"; George C. Scott, for his description of the carp in the bathtub; and William Peter Blatty, the writer/director, for lines like "God is like a power mower" and "Everything is relative — or maybe not."

Four star. Joe Bob says check it out.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

The organization SCAMMP was formed to alert and educate the public regarding the harmful effects of capture and captivity of dolphins and whales. The goals are being met in that the public is speaking out on the issue. It is true that emotions are being expressed because of the nature of how these intelligent mammals are being treated through capture and captivity. SCAMMP has had several informative public meetings with knowledgeable guest speakers and will have additional meetings this fall and winter.

Research that has been presented by the ABC News' "20/20", The Orlando Sentinel, and others is proving our point. There exists conflicts of interest in other findings. First, the stranding network of southern California is headed by Sea World as is the one in Florida. Many of the rehabilitated cetaceans that were stranded are now in highly chlorinated petting pools, nearly blind. Marine Animal Productions is in charge of the stranding network in Mississippi and Alabama. There are several "rescued" dolphins now performing tricks in concrete tanks. Why weren't these mammals released back into the wild as is the intent of a stranding facility? Secondly, it has been announced that Mitsubishi Corporation, a multi-billion dollar Japanese company, will be an investor in Ocean Expo. Japan slaughters over 200,000 dolphins and whales per year through drift nets, harpoons, and shore drives. A subsidiary of Mitsubishi has been charged with deforestation throughout Asia. This is certainly not an environmentally sensitive corporation. If Mitsubishi wants to educate the public about saving dolphins and whales, I suggest that they lobby the Japanese government to stop driving these species to extinction. The conflicts stated here prove that the display industry has one motive: PROFIT. Now is the time to realize that the only place for dolphins and whales is in the open ocean, free from all exploitation.

Sincerely,
Mark Berman,
Volunteer Director
South Carolina Association for Marine Mammal Protection

Women's Volleyball Delivers

By Wayne White
Sports Editor

Coach Debbie Fore is in the third year of constructing a volleyball tradition here at Coastal.

Tradition is not built overnight, but the Lady Chants are on their way.

Coastal's spiking specialists consist of one senior, one junior, four sophomores, and six freshmen.

"This is my third year at Coastal and now the team is almost completely made up of girls that I have recruited," Fore said. "None of our players can take it easy because any of them can start."

The advantage of youth on Fore's squad is that these ladies are hungry for play time. Practices are rigorous with each member giving one hundred percent at all times.

The Chants follow the example of senior co-captain Lynn Smith. The fifth-year senior from Woodbridge, Virginia, is back after sitting out last season due to an injury.

Coastal's other co-captain, sophomore setter Michelle Allison, literally "sets" a good example on the court as she leads the team with 244 assists. The Apollo, Pennsylvania, native also allows the Lady Chants to run a 5-1 offense because of her ability to finish an attack as well as start one. In addition to her assists total, she has also crushed 30 kills.

Newcomers Mindy Burst and Suzanne Basham are the punch in Coastal's arsenal. Burst, a freshman from Elkhorn, Nebraska, leads the team with 76 kills. Basham, a junior from Severn, Maryland, follows Burst with 69 kills.

When the Chants are on defense, the call goes out to freshman Sandy Slepiski. The 5'10" freshmen from Chicago Ridge, Illinois, has quickly become known for her intimidating celebrations after each of her team-high 38 blocks. She also leads the team with a 36.3 attack percentage.

With these ladies leading the way for Coastal, Coach Fore can also call on sophomores Anna Hollis, Laura Egan, and Lori Meador, and freshmen Sarah Bashaw, Shannon Mullaly, Natalie Toth and Angie Marshall.

The team's versatility was displayed this past weekend as Fore called on Mullaly to take the place of an injured Allison in the starting rotation. The Laurel, Maryland, product responded with 47 assists against Furman.

Errity Adds Strength to Team

Errity, a 21-year-old sophomore on Coastal's men's golf team, recently took a trip back to his homeland to compete for Ireland in the Home International Championships.

And when he and his nine teammates on the Irish National Team stepped off the 18th green, Irish eyes were smiling and the Triple Crown was heading to Ireland.

The Irish team had defeated long-time rival England 8-7 and had put an end to England's final-round comebacks.

"When we won the whole thing, it brought a lot of tears to the old eyes," Errity said. "England had beaten Ireland the last couple of years on the last day, so we finally got our revenge."

The three-day tournament is set up for 36 holes of golf each day.

During the first 18 holes, five foursomes tee off. One of the players on a two-person team will tee off and then the second player in the team will take the second shot. Play continues like this with each player alternating turns.

The 18-hole afternoon round is the more conventional head-to-head match play.

On the first day of the tournament, Errity won both of his matches to help Ireland defeat Scotland 9-6, while England defeated Wales 10-5.

Ireland, and England remained undefeated on day two as the Irish crushed Wales 11-4 and England defeated Scotland 8-7. This set up a final day showdown between the Irish and England.

On the final day, Errity won his morning round but lost single's competition to England's Jim Payne. On the 18th green, England and Ireland were tied 7-7 as the last two players eyed their putts. Ireland's Liam McNamara rolled in an eight-foot putt for the Irish's 8-7 win.

"When the ball fell into the cup, I was overwhelmed and delighted," Errity said. "Being picked to play for your country in the Homes International is what all amateurs play for."

Errity, who has only played golf for seven years, turned to the sport as an easier hobby than soccer.

"I started playing golf when I was fourteen," Errity said. "I had played soccer as a youth and after I took up golf I would walk onto the course limping after a soccer match. I quickly decided that I preferred golf."

And Coastal's Tom Brennan is glad Errity made this decision.

"David will improve our team's strength when he comes on as a player in the spring after transferring from Maryland," said Brennan, head coach of Coastal's men's and women's golf teams.

Intramural Update

Intramural sports for the fall semester are full speed ahead! The winner of our softball tournament will go to Columbia on October 12 to participate in the USC Intramural State Tournament. The teams still competing in our softball tournament are: Brew Crew, Mergers, MoBeer, and Crush. We are proud of all of our softball and volleyball teams and wish the best to each one.

In sand volleyball we have twelve teams participating. The games are being held in front of the dorms and are exciting to watch. Come out and support your team.

In the bowling league we have seven teams. The games will take place at Waccamaw Lanes on Wednesday nights beginning September 25.

We encourage all students to come by the Intramural Office and sign up for the upcoming events: putt-putt opens October 8 and closes October 9, flag football opens September 28 and closes October 8, fun run opens October 12 and closes the twenty-second, 3-on-3 opens and closes October 7.

Putt-putt and the fun run are only one-day events. We are also having a 3-on-3 basketball tournament on October 7, at 6:00 p.m., so come on out and have fun!

Just a reminder, please bring your Coastal ID to all games.

Coastal Triumphs in Shootout

by Wayne White

Coastal Carolina's men's soccer team captured the Dr. Edward M. Singleton Championship Cup by winning the 1990 Great Carolina Shootout.

The Chants destroyed Southwest Missouri State 4-0 in game one of the tournament. The golden foot in this game belonged to Eric Schmitt. Schmitt tallied two goals, while Ludvik Bragason and Keith Jarmusch added one each. Jarmusch's goal, the final of the match, brought the crowd to its feet as he blasted a shot from 35 yards out.

day two as he tallied the Chants only goal in a 1-0 win over Wisconsin. Schmitt stole a pass from the Badger's goalie and booted an 18-yard strike into the back of the net.

The Tarheels of North Carolina, who won their first game 2-0 over Wisconsin, knew that they needed to do two things against Southwest Missouri State to win the Cup. The first was to win the match and the second was to tally at least four goals. Although the Heels had a rough time, they completed the first task by scoring a double overtime win. The second task eluded North Carolina by two goals as they scored a 2-1 victory.

The Chants were awarded the Cup because they scored five goals in the Shootout, while the tarheels tallied only four.

The last two Shootouts have proved to be eye-openers for many soccer fans along the Grand Strand.

In the Great Carolina Shootout this past spring, Coastal dealt losses to North Carolina and Clemson. Both of these wins, although in the offseason, sent out a message that Coastal Carolina Soccer was not to be taken lightly.

By winning this fall's Shootout, Coastal backed up its off-season message. Southwest Missouri State was not much of a match for the

Time Out for Sports

With Brian Rogers

The University of South Carolina ended months of speculation Tuesday, September 25, by formally accepting an invitation of admission from the Southeastern Conference. Dr. Arthur K. Smith announced the school's admission at Williams-Brice Stadium in front of SEC President Roy Kramer, USC Athletic Director King Dixon, and Head Coach Sparky Woods. Dr. Smith, USC's interim president, called it "A great day for the state of South Carolina." USC becomes the twelfth member institution of the SEC following Arkansas, who was admitted back in early June. With the acceptance, many words were uttered of the great academic advances that such a move warrants, but the bottom line of the move lies in athletic progress and financial gain. Oh yes, the almighty dollar was more than a slight factor weighing all sides of this fraternity agreement. Look for the Gamecocks to enter an SEC schedule within the next few years. The only sport that USC has to add is women's gymnastics. (How about those lady Gamecock tumblers!) The move by the school, and all involved, will turn out to be a wise one in the long run, but do not look for Carolina to contend for a Sugar Bowl berth coming out of the blocks. Carolina will be competitive in the SEC and the move puts us one step closer to our vision of excellence leading us into 2001, the school's 200th anniversary. Congrats and GO COCKS!!

Where will you be in the summer of 1996? Well, I'm not one to delve into such long range plans, but covering the Summer Olympiad in Atlanta, Georgia is where I hope to be. Yes, the city of Atlanta will attempt to pull off the success of a profitable Olympic Games. In order for the games to be a success, Atlanta will have to find someone with the skills of Peter Ueberoth, who directed the profitable and successful Olympic Games of Los Angeles in 1984. The task before the city and the organizers is there so let's save the celebration until the job is done and done right. Congratulations and go for it, Atlanta! Make the great South, the USA, and the world proud.

Does anyone care if Eric Dickerson ever plays football again? I, for one, could care less. For someone with his talent, he has turned out to be a loser in the eyes of many with his run around, crybaby tactics. Nobody cares, Eric, nobody really cares.

With the first three weeks of the NFL season complete, a few trends are being seen. First, the NFC looks heads above the AFC in comparison, and with the exception of the Raiders and the Bengals, there is not much to talk about in the conference that has given us the losers of the last six Super Bowls. Secondly, defense is the name of the game so far in league play. Defensive coordinators are stymying offenses with the return of the 4-3 defense in response to the run-and shoot which, by the way, still looks terrible. Third, and lastly, quarterbacks who win and don't necessarily "lead" the team are fashionable. Just ask Jim Harbaugh or Jay Schroeder how it feels not to have quarterback controversy hanging over their heads.

Pardon the pun, but the luck of the Irish has been with Notre Dame this year. The Irish are definitely a talented team featuring the likes of Chris Zurich, Mike Stonebreaker, Raghib Ishmail, Todd Lyght, Ricky Waters, and quarterback Rick Mirer, but they will need to bring their game up a notch to compete every week with the type of schedule they play. Lou Holtz better save some of his inspiration for later on in the season when the Irish take on the likes of Miami, Southern Cal, and Tennessee.

This week the "cheer of the week" goes out to former San Diego Padre GM and Manager Jack McKeon. "Trader" Jack was relieved of his duties this past week in lieu of a new ownership's strive for a fresh start toward winning ways. McKeon is a well respected baseball man and the diamond will miss the man's character, spunk, and love of the game. Good luck, Jack, and thanks for ten great years in the Padres' organization.

In some closing notes, Boston will come through for me with or without Roger Clemens. In light of violations having nothing to do with the present coaching staff of Steve Spurrier, the University of Florida was hit with a sentence of bowl game restrictions for this year. Tough luck.

"College administrators and student groups have to work together to solve the problem of campus sexual assaults," said Jonathan Brant, executive vice president of the National Interfraternity Conference. "We strongly endorse the campaign and have distributed the film to our members nationwide to initiate student support of this effort."

To specifically address college administrators, the Rape Treatment Center mailed its booklet, "Sexual Assault on Campus: What Colleges Can Do," to every college president. The booklet urges adoption of a 10-point rape prevention program model which includes disciplinary hearings for offenders and comprehensive programs for assisting victims.

The Rape Treatment Center has also been a pioneering force in initiating tougher sexual assault legislation. As part of its national campaign, the center has called upon governors nationwide to support legislation requiring colleges to have written procedures for handling sexual assault cases, similar to a new California law supported by the center. The center is also encouraging the states to require that colleges provide rape prevention information during freshmen orientation, as New York state recently did.

Abarbanel also commended the many talented members of the entertainment industry who contributed their time and made the film and ads possible. "Campus Rape" was written by Emmy award winners Allan Burns and Seth Freedman. Compact Video donated film duplication services. The public service ads and posters were contributed by the prestigious advertising agency Dailey and Associates.

Abarbanel said, "The campaign's recommendations are inexpensive, yet effective. They will help reduce the incidence of rape on campus and ensure that victims are not revictimized by an intensive system."

The Rape Treatment Center at Santa Monica Hospital Medical Center was founded in 1974. It is nationally recognized for its model treatment, prevention, and education programs. Services include expert, free treatment for sexual assault victims and their families; training for police, prosecutors, and medical and mental health personnel; prevention education programs that reach 20,000 teenagers each year; and consultation to news media, television, and film proceedings and at legislative hearings.

Government Testing For Career Placement

The federal government has instituted a new program called Administrative Careers with America (ACWA) which tests applicants for 112 different entry-level occupations including finance, personnel, law enforcement, and computer positions. To take one of the tests (there are six) seniors and alumni must send a letter or postcard to the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) by October 31 requesting to take the test. Descriptions for each test are available in the Career Placement Office. The OPM will respond to your request with forms providing the dates, times, and locations where you are scheduled to take the test. For more information contact the Career Placement Office.

Nightclub Critic

By Kearnan Weaver

Dance! Dance! Dance! Dancing machine! It is Friday night, what are you going to do tonight? There is a good chance you will go dancing or go hang out at a club. What club are you going to?

Does it not sound cool to say "Hey! I'll meet you at the Purple Gator?" Too bad the name is a little cooler than the actual place. The Purple Gator, at the north end of Myrtle Beach, is just about the worst place to be on a Friday night. If you are a local you get in free but that does not enhance the charm or the number of people there. The Purple Gator just seems like the old Streamers trying to make good. Okay, maybe I was there on an off night, maybe Thursday night is the night to be there — maybe? Purple Gator earned a C. GPA 2.0.

After leaving the disappointing Purple Gator, I went to Atlantis Nightlife on Highway 501 in Myrtle Beach. Ah, yes! This was the club I was looking for. Three! Three! Three! Three clubs in one. Atlantis is not the answer to Myrtle Beach's on going nightlife problem, but it does aid in the solution. The club of my choice was the patio. The music was more of the acoustic variety with a hint of Jimmy Buffet. Granted, as the weather cools down this part of the club will probably become less inviting, but for now...

The other rooms in Atlantis are: a concert room, a game room, and a dance floor. The concert room is a very good place to see live bands. I personally was on hand for the Wailers concert this past summer, and, for a live club performance, Atlantis housed the band and crowd pretty well. The aquarium dance floor is a little over publicized. Okay, I guess a dance floor over water is sort of cool, but not that cool. Overall, Atlantis is about the best club to be at on Friday night with the little added extra of being open almost all night. Atlantis earned B+. GPA 3.5.

Let's Do Lunch

By Tricia Grant and Debbie Rahn

Chan's Garden is located on 3rd Avenue in Conway on the left side of the street before you get to the court house. Chan's lunch special consists of your choice of one of the three entrees of the day, rice, an egg roll, and tea, all for $3.75.

Take highway 544 past Oliver's and continue on 544 into Conway and at the first light (3rd Street); take a left. Continue down 3rd and about one-fourth of a mile down, you will find Chan's Garden on the left.

RAHN: I had beef with broccoli (slices of tender beef combined with mushrooms, bamboo shoots and broccoli). The Chinese food here is really good and there is plenty of it! At $3.75, this is one of the best lunch deals in Conway. Chan's is at a good location being only 4 miles from school, with the exception of parking. Usually you must parallel park on the street. Chan's does get quite busy since it is in downtown Conway, so do try to get there a little early. Be ready to spend around an hour for lunch.

Earn Money Offer May Have Been a Scandal

In the last issue of The Chanticleer, Sarah Loudin submitted a story titled "Earn Money Watching Television." The Chanticleer had intentions of following the story to the end. Our plans, however, have changed. The establishment that solicits the information does not exist any longer. C.H.T. and Company has apparently folded. C.H.T. was a loyal advertiser in The Chanticleer, but the checks that were issued to pay for their ads have been returned without payment and no current forwarding account number. Personally, I am not upset that we will not be paid. I am sorry, though, that we will not be able to participate in the deceased money making deals that C.H.T. offered.

International Club Meeting

The boys are back! We, the members of the International Club, are back for a very active year ahead. Firstly, we would like to take this opportunity to welcome back all the old members of the International Club and extend our best of wishes to all the incoming freshmen and returning students for success in their college life. We would like to extend a special invitation to all Freshmen to come and join the club.

The International Club is not only a club for international students but is also for students from the United States. The club aims to give an international awareness to all, and provide for an interaction between international and U.S. students. In the past few years, the club has enjoyed a lot of support from the faculty and the campus in general and we want the tradition to continue. Last year the club consisted of about 35 members.

The International Club, known for its International Food Fair, has done a lot of interesting things in the past year. The club started its speaker's bureau program where members from different countries went to different schools in Horry County to talk with the business club in the Big Brother/Big Sister Program. Through the fund raising efforts of the club and the support of the Coastal Council for Internationals, members were able to travel to Washington D.C. for the Thanksgiving weekend during the fall semester and to Charleston for a cruise in the spring semester. The club has some interesting plans for the coming year. We already started the year with a big bang — our first food sale. The club also plans to start a scholarship program where a scholarship will be given to the most active member. The club is also working towards a Thanksgiving trip to New York.

Come and join the International Club and get a unique international experience with a blend of various cultures. Make friends who will make the difference in your life. Meetings are held every Wednesday at 4:00 p.m. in SC 204. For more information contact Sunny Gupta, 347-2491.

News Briefs

Anti-War Protests Stir At Berkeley, Colorado

(CPS) - About 50 University of Colorado at Boulder and about 300 University of California at Berkeley students separately protested the U.S. military buildup in the Middle East Aug. 30, among the first such campus demonstrations since Iraq invaded Kuwait.

Students on both campuses spoke against "dying for oil profits" and called on Americans to solve the crisis by decreasing their energy consumption.

In Philadelphia, the American Friends Service Committee, a pacifist Quaker group, reported it has been "flooded" with 500 calls from soldiers asking how to become an official "conscientious objector" who would be excused from combat duty.

Students Expect To Be White Collar, Mobile in Jobs

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (CPS) - More than four out of five collegians expect to completely change careers some time during their lives, with about half of them thinking about starting their own businesses, a nationwide survey by Right Associates, Inc., found Aug. 29.

Students also expect to graduate into lower management positions, where they hope to earn $20,000 to $30,000 a year, the company said.

College Excuses Students From Having To Dissect Cat

WARWICK, R.I. (CPS) - In a compromise with her school, Community College of Rhode Island nursing student Rosann Charron won an 18-month-old fight to avoid having to dissect a cat in a class she needed to get her degree.

On Aug. 29, the college agreed to let Charron, who contended raising cats for the purpose of being dissected is immoral, take an alternative human anatomy class at the University of Rhode Island instead.

"Smoking" Dorm Rooms Prove Unpopular

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (CPS) - Only 290 students - out of a total of the almost 7,800 moving into Bowling Green State University's dorms - requested dorm rooms reserved for smokers, campus housing Director Jill Carr reported Aug. 28.

She said 425 students requested smoking rooms last year.

Police Arrested Prof For Protesting Campus Layoffs

STANFORD, Calif. (CPS) - Police arrested Stanford University Prof. John Manley and four other campus workers who had barricaded themselves in a school building to protest a round of layoffs that could cost 300-400 Stanford employees their jobs.

The five said Stanford, which announced it needed to cut $22 million from its operating budget by next September, was punishing low-level workers for higher-level money mismanagement.

Money woes also are causing layoffs, sometimes of teachers, at the 19 California State University campuses and at most public campuses in West Virginia.

Racism on Campuses

(CPS) - In what is likely the longest running protest of the summer, Cleveland State University students on Sept. 4 entered the 67th day of a sit-in protesting how CSU treated one of its black administrators.

A different kind of controversy involving minority campus officials ended about the same time, when Dartmouth College music Professor William Cole said that, after seven years of verbal assaults and ridicule from a conservative student newspaper, he would quit.

At Cleveland State, "We're prepared to stay as long as possible," declared student Herman Brooks II, one of the protestors demanding that CSU rehire Raymond Winbush, its former vice president for minority affairs.

Between 40 and 50 students and local citizens have maintained a sit-in - with about 20 people on duty at all times - at Cleveland State President John Fowler's office building since June 29.

The protestors may be there a long time. The university says it won't budge.

"Raymond Winbush is not an issue for negotiation," CSU spokesman Ed Mayer said.

While CSU grappled with the controversy over employment of a minority official, Cole, one of the few black professors at Dartmouth, resigned Aug. 22.

Since 1983 the Dartmouth Review, one of the original conservative student newspapers funded on some 35 campuses by a group of wealthy business people, regularly attacked Cole as incompetent and even as looking like a "used brillo pad." The attacks - which climaxed in a shoving match between Cole and two Review staffers - drew the official ire of Dartmouth administrators and ultimately became a national cause celebre when writer William F. Buckley cited the disciplining of the Review staffers as an example of how colleges discriminate against conservatives.

"I wish I were leaving under more favorable circumstances," Cole said in a prepared statement. "I know that many people will feel that the forces which are part of my leaving Dartmouth have won a major victory. However, this problem is no longer for me to wrestle with. It is a problem for Dartmouth to wrestle with."

The Cleveland State controversy began when Winbush refused a new contract that offered only a 2-percent raise. Rather than present a counter offer, Flower withdrew the contract, leaving Winbush without a job.

Winbush, nothing that all other CSU vice presidents also were offered merit raises, said Flower's 2-percent cost-of-living offer was an insult.

"I was trying to do a job and I got truncated," Winbush said. Flower hired Winbush 10 months ago to fill the newly created position. In that time, Winbush became a visible campus figure.

In addition to the student sit-in, Winbush's ouster prompted a statement by black professors condemning CSU's action, and it has attracted Justice Department officials to the campus to mediate the dispute. Cleveland Mayor Michael White and Ohio Gov. Richard Celeste both have called for a resolution to the controversy.

Brooks said protestors have been picketing at homes and offices of trustees, who in July expressed their support for Flower's handling of the situation.

"The people down here are pretty serious about this issue," Brooks said.

Winbush predicts that controversy will hurt the university financially, maintaining that 1,500 Arab-American students, in a show of solidarity, have vowed to "de-register" of Winbush isn't reinstated by Sept. 24, the day classes begin. Twenty-six other students have already de-registered, Winbush says.

"There's no evidence of that," CSU spokesman Mayer declared. "Registrations are dramatically above what they were a year ago."

Help for Undecided Students

FOCUS, focus on counseling undecided students, is a joint effort by the offices of Academic Affairs and Career Planning to assist undecided students in selecting a major.

Beginning with registration for the spring 1991 semester, a registration hold will be placed on all students who have accumulated forty-five semester hours and have not declared a major. Research indicates that students fail to declare a major because they are not aware of various degree programs offered by the college and services on campus to help in the decision making process of selecting a major. FOCUS workshops will deal with these two areas. Information on the various degree programs offered at Coastal Carolina will be presented by the assistant deans of Business and Computer Science, Education and Health Professions, Humanities and Fine Arts, and Natural and Applied Sciences.

The Academic Affairs staff will provide information on academic advisement, the core curriculum and the process of declaring a major. The Career Planning staff will provide information on the variety of services provided. These services include interest testing, career information, individualized planning, and SIGI, a computerized guidance system. Both offices are committed to helping undecided students in selecting a major and to reach their career objectives.

All students who are undecided are encouraged to attend, as well as any student having questions concerning career choices. Workshop dates and times are as follows:

Thursday, October 11, 10:00 a.m., Thursday, October 25, 11:30 a.m., Wednesday, October 31, 2:30 p.m., Wednesday, November 7, 4:00 p.m., Tuesday, November 20, 2:30 p.m.

All workshops will be held in the Student Center, Room 205. For further information on FOCUS, please call Linda Ford, extension 2093, or Trena Page, extension 2307.
